Workshop on - "Ace Your Skills"

A highly engaging and insightful session titled "Ace Your Skills" was conducted at Simpkin's Public School, with the aim of enhancing students' core skills essential for personal and academic success. The keynote speaker for the session was Prof. Alka Chaturvedi, a distinguished academican and motivational speaker, widely recognized for her impactful sessions on personality development, communication, and life skills.

In her thought-provoking address, Prof. Chaturvedi emphasized the importance of: Self-awareness and confidence building, Effective communication and listening skills, positive attitude . Through relatable examples, interactive discussions, and engaging activities, she kept the students actively involved and inspired. Her dynamic speaking style and deep understanding of youth psychology made the session not only informative but also highly motivational.

Around 150 students participated enthusiastically and shared positive feedback, expressing how the session gave them a fresh perspective and renewed confidence. The session concluded with a vote of thanks and the presentation of a token of appreciation to the speaker.

Workshop - on Survey Data Entry and Analysis using SPSS

A workshop was conducted by Dr .Amitabha Maheshwari , HOD ,Department of Management and Commerce with an objective to introduce and enhance the understanding of survey data entry and analysis using SPSS (Statistical Package for the Social Sciences) —a powerful tool widely used for research and statistical analysis. Throughout the session, Dr. Maheshwari explained each concept in a step-by-step and hands-on practice, allowing every participant to work alongside and practice the tools in real time. From coding the questionnaire and entering responses to applying basic statistical functions and interpreting outputs, each topic was covered thoroughly with practical demonstration. Sir patiently ensured that every attendee was comfortable using the software and encouraged queries and hands-on application. Dr. Maheshwari's expertise and clarity made the session highly engaging and beneficial for all participants.

FOUNDERS DAY CELEBRATIONS

Founder's Day was celebrated to commemorate and honor the cherished memory of Late Shri Ram Sundar Sharma Ji, the revered Founder Chairman of ShriRam Group of Colleges. The event marked the 28th year of excellence of the institution and served as a tribute to the founder's vision and dedication.

The Founders' Day Celebration at ShriRam Group Of Colleges ,Banmore was held with great reverence and enthusiasm to honor the vision and legacy of our revered founder, Late Shri Ramsundar Sharma Ji. The program was a beautiful blend of tribute, tradition, and togetherness.

Kindling of the Lamp

As a symbol of knowledge, purity, and enlightenment, the ceremonial lighting of the lamp was conducted by the dignitaries present. It marked the beginning of the evening on a spiritual and auspicious note.

Tribute to Late Shri Ramsundar Sharma Ji

Welcome Address

The event commenced with a warm welcome extended to all distinguished guests, faculty members, students, alumni, and invitees. The atmosphere was filled with a sense of respect and gratitude as everyone gathered to pay homage to the founding spirit of the institution.

Bhajan Sandhya

The highlight of the evening was a soul-stirring Bhajan Sandhya presented by the renowned artist Mr. Rajendra Parekh and his team. Their melodious renditions of devotional songs created a divine ambiance and connected everyone to the spiritual essence of the occasion. The audience was mesmerized by the harmony and depth of the musical presentation, making it a truly memorable experience.

Vote of Thanks

The program concluded with a sincere vote of thanks, expressing heartfelt gratitude to all who contributed to the success of the event — especially the Core Committee, the organizing committee, student volunteers, support staff, and respected guests. Special thanks were extended to Mr. Rajendra Parekh and his team for their musical offerings, and to all attendees for their gracious presence. The Founders' Day celebration was not just an event, but a moment of reflection, reverence, and recommitment to the values our founder stood for. It strengthened the bond among all members of the institution and served as a reminder of our shared purpose and legacy.

The Founders' Day Celebration was held with great reverence and enthusiasm to honor the vision and legacy of our revered founder, Late Shri Ramsundar Sharma Ji. The program was a beautiful blend of tribute, tradition, and togetherness.

Abstract

Background: Hypertension is a significant global health burden. Current pharmacotherapies have limitations, including side effects and cost. Peganum harmala, a traditionally used medicinal plant, may offer a safer alternative.

Objective: To evaluate the antihypertensive activity of the methanolic extract of Peganum harmala seeds in glucose-induced hypertensive rats and assess its in vitro ACE inhibition potential.

Methods: Extraction was done using a Soxhlet apparatus. Hypertension was induced in Wistar rats with 10% glucose. Rats were grouped and treated with standard (Nifedipine) and P. harmala extract (100 & 300 mg/kg). Blood pressure was measured using NIBP on days 0, 7, 14, and 21. In vitro ACE inhibition was also performed.

ABSTRACT

In this study, Alangium salvifolium and Ocimum sanctum extracts were investigated for their antioxidant, antidiabetic and hypolipidemic activities individually and in combined form. HPLC, LC-MS and UPLC phytochemicals profiling identified phenolics and flavonoids as major bioactives. Antioxidant assays showed significant DPPH and ABTS radical scavenging activities, with the combined formulation (1:1 ratio) 91.2 and 89.6% inhibition was achieved respectively. Antidiabetic activities were first investigated in vitro with the ability of the combination to inhibit both α -amylase ($IC_{50} = 38.4 \mu\text{g/mL}$) and α -glucosidase ($IC_{50} = 45.2 \mu\text{g/mL}$) having the strongest inhibitory effects. The hypolipidemic activity included inhibition of lipid peroxidation (78.5%); pancreatic lipase inhibition (70.2%). The bioactives were further molecular docked to find strong binding affinities with PPAR γ , DPP-IV, and HMG-CoA reductase. Results were confirmed statistically different ($p < 0.05$) between treated and control groups. These results suggest that the extracts can exhibit synergy as natural therapeutics in diabetes and lipid disorders.

ABSTRACT

The phytochemical components and diuretic efficacy of the methanolic extract of Neolamarckia cadamba leaves are investigated in this work. Rich phytoconstituent profile was indicated by preliminary phytochemical screening, revealing alkaloids, flavonoids, tannins, saponins, glycosides, and phenolic compounds. Using adult Wistar albino rats, the diuretic action was evaluated under a standard medication furosemide. Urinary volume and electrolyte excretion (Na^+ , K^+ , and Cl^-) showed a notable rise in the extract at two dosage levels—200 mg/kg and 400 mg/kg—versus against the control group. The promising diuretic action of the methanolic extract of Neolamarckia cadamba leaves supports its traditional usage in the treatment of fluid retention problems. More investigation is advised to separate and define the bioactive substances causing the reported pharmacological effects

Keywords: Neolamarckia cadamba, diuretic action, phytochemical screening, methanolic extract, electrolyte excretion, Wistar albino rats, traditional medicine.

FACULTY FORUM I -MBA Department

The Department of Commerce and Management successfully organized an insightful seminar on 05th July 2025 on the topic "Porter's Five Forces Model", aimed at enhancing teachers' understanding of strategic business analysis. The keynote speaker for the session was Prof. Mansi Sharma, who elaborated on the concept with clarity, real-world examples, and case-based discussion. Her presentation covered: Competitive Rivalry,- Threat of New Entrants,- Bargaining Power of Suppliers ,- Bargaining Power of Buyers,- Threat of Substitutes etc The event was a learning for faculty members, to explore how the five forces—competitive rivalry, threat of new entrants, threat of substitutes, bargaining power of buyers, and bargaining power of suppliers—shape the dynamics of various industries. Eminent speakers shared real-world examples and engaged the audience with interactive discussions, emphasizing the practical relevance of Porter's model in today's competitive business environment. The session concluded with a Q&A round, encouraging participants to think critically about market strategies and industry positioning.

Faculty Forum II : Consumer Protection Act, 1986

The Department of Commerce and Management organized a Faculty Forum on 26th July 2025. The session featured Dr. Arun Kumar Saral as the esteemed speaker, who delivered an insightful presentation on the Consumer Protection Act, 1986. Dr. Saral provided an in-depth explanation of the key provisions, objectives, and historical significance of the Act. He elaborated on consumer rights, redressal mechanisms, and the evolution of the Act in protecting consumer interests in the Indian market. His detailed analysis helped the attendees gain a clear understanding of how the legislation safeguards consumers from unfair trade practices and ensures justice through various forums. To enhance the engagement and understanding of the topic, Dr. Saral also showcased a short film based on real-life scenarios covered under the Consumer Protection Act, 1986. The visual representation significantly enriched the learning experience and sparked meaningful discussions among faculty members. Prof. Mansi Sharma was the coordinator. She ensured there were no loopholes in it.

Faculty Development Program Participation :

Mr. Vikas Basant, Assistant Professor in Pharmacy, successfully attended a 6-day Faculty Development Program (FDP) on "Smart Health Innovation: Integrating Imaging, Sensors & Biomaterials".
